

D. FLOYD

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

November 12, 2019

Media/Press Contact

Antoniese Ruffin

202-486-3861

antoniese@yahoo.com

King of the Go-Go Beat D. Floyd Announces Last Show

Washington, DC, October 29 -- After nearly 40 years in the Go-Go industry, D. Floyd, the globally renowned saxophonist and Team Familiar frontman known to many as King of the Go-Go Beat, will perform for the final time at the illustrious Anthem. This historic show will mark the end of an impactful and legendary Go-Go career peppered with dozens of songwriting credits, an untold number of live events, and the assembly of some of Go-Go's strongest groups.

The King of the Go-Go Beat Finale Show Details

This once-in-a-lifetime program will start at 6pm on Sunday, November 24, 2019 at The Anthem (901 Wharf Street SW, Washington, DC 20024). The star-studded line-up scheduled to share the stage with D. Floyd & Team Familiar that evening includes: 12-time Grammy-nominated vocal powerhouse Ledisi, home-grown neo-soul sensation Raheem DeVaughn, hip-hop pioneer Doug E. Fresh, Tao (formerly of Dru Hill), and D.C. native, independent artist Kenny Sway.

General Admission: $65

VIP: $100

About D. Floyd

D. Floyd, born Donnell Floyd, entered the go-go industry as a saxophonist for Rare Essence in January of 1983 while a student at the Duke Ellington School of the Arts. Since the turn of the century, he has been captain of his own ship with the District's premier grown-and-sexy band known as Team Familiar, performing in venues across the D.C. Metropolitan Area four nights out of the week.

Team Familiar, formerly known as Familiar Faces, reflects D. Floyd's never-dying aspirations for national exposure. He said his formula for realizing that vision often involves penning lyrics relevant to current world events, and incorporating a strong go-go beat with a memorable hook. Some of Team Familiar's most notable shows include, performing at D.C. Mayor, Muriel Bowser's Inauguration, and a sold-out Summer Breeze Concert at Nationals Stadium. ,

In 2018, Team Familiar took their talents to the next level and became global go-go ambassadors when Ooni of Ife, Ooni Adeyeye Enitan Babatunde Ogunwusi, invited the group to the Pan-African Back-To the Roots Festival in Nigeria. While there, Team Familiar met Femi Kuti, son of legendary Afrobeats pioneer Fela Kuti. This made Team Familiar the first ever go-go band invited to the Motherland by African royalty, an amazing accomplishment for the go-go industry.